Oxford county is to have a new corporation organized for the purpose of mining minerals and gems. The men behind this movement are F. C. Haves of Lewiston, George R. Howe and the two Bickford brothers of Norway. The hills of all Oxford are richly laden with gems and it is the intention of this company to mine them scientifically. This has never before been done to any extent.

Mrs. Hannah Dickey died Sunday evening at North Manchester, Indiana. She was born at Westminster, Maryland, June 21, 1816, and went with her mother, brother and two sisters to Melmore, Seneca County, Ohio in 1832. She was twice married, the only son of the son of the first being Rev. J. A. Seliz, of Cos Cob, Conn., father of Don C. Seliz, business manager of the New York World. Of the six children by the second marriage, four survive. She leaves 67 direct living descendants.

Fred Loyjoy entertained a party of friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Loyjoy, in Millistville, Saturday evening. The party reached the farm about seven thirty and an excellent chicken pie supper was served by Mrs. Loyjoy. The table was literally covered with good things to eat and the party of about twenty, who sat down to the supper, enjoyed a most excellent repast. A very pleasant evening was spent and at a late hour the party left for the village after expressing their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Loyjoy for their pleasant outing.

The W. O. T. U. will meet Wednesday, April 10, with Mrs. H. L. Bartlett. This will be a mothers' meeting and all mothers are cordially invited to attend. Each member is requested to bring an appropriate reading.

Those interested in the Landscape work of Vivian M. Akers can see his latest landscape production in the show window of H. B. Foster, clothing, Thursday and Friday of this week. The painting will then be entered for the Spring Exhibition of the Portland Society of Art.

Mrs. R. L. Powers' Millinery Opening.

Wednesday and Thursday were the days chosen for this event and notwithstanding the snow storm and sleet traveling the ladies were anxious to see the new spring styles. Mrs. Powers shows this year 15 trimmed hats. She has for assistants, Mary Adams, Mrs. Edith Witham Robbins, Mrs. Angie Johnson, Cora Wight and Lillian Powers.

The window was trimmed in new brass color. A basket-vase of flowers from which a few petals had fallen. On the vase was a butterfly attracted by the flowers. Only four trimmed hats were in the window. A gabby hat, the top of tan fancy satin straw faced with black velvet, large black maline bow and a wreath around the rim of small pink roses. A large white cloth trimmed with black ribbon velvet, with wreath of roses and foliage flat on the rim. It is also trimmed underneath the rim and has ties from one side. An Alice blue tulle braided, faced with velvet and heavily trimmed with white and gold plumes. A large white cloth, caught with half moon ornaments. A big, wide, white hat trimmed with three plumes. This has a macramé trimming rising abruptly from the front.

With respect to the heights of crowns, important divergences exist. As a rule the height of the crown is in inverse ratio to the breadth of the brim.

Quite large hats are almost always given rather low crowns, whereas hats with narrow brims have high crowns either tapering more or less toward the top. Hats of medium size are made with crowns of different heights and shapes, choice being guided by the trim.

Flowers are especially good. A great many ribbons are used in roses, violets and bows, garlands of small ribbon flowers, small fruits.

Double faced and shaded ribbon make beautiful bows. The Gabby bow is still popular and there are all sorts of variations of the original. Many high standing bows and cockades.

The mannish derby and top hat have inspired some of the modes of the season and call for a severe and strictly tailored arrangement of ribbon.

Among the new hat trimmings the spun glass cigarette is adopted. More bands are used than all-overs. Last season hats were made of the Turkish bath towel and now it has appeared in dozens of new ideas in the bath towel.

Large and small hats, bonnets, baby caps to smart hats. This material comes in colors as well as white. Changeable taffeta is very much in evidence. Practically all shades of red and rose are strong. Milans are strong for grand hats. Plateaux and bands of braid are being used for the barrette and tam crowns.

The season cannot be described as a one color season for there is every shade. Small hats in the poke bonnet style and draped turbans are seen everywhere. Lace and macramé are used in the hats but all Oriental laces and flower meshes are used. Tricorneers are shown, sailors with roll brims. In ornaments straw centers are used and ribbons.

Bead bandeaux are among the novelties. We notice a large brass color bump hat, faced with black velvet, two black willow plumes coming from the crown, wreath of small daisy flowers on the brass colored stem. A turban in gold and black rough braid, with large bow in three shades of leather color, in wide silk, from right side, bunch of pink shaded silk flowers on either side. A poke shape, draped in black maline over silver net, string of brilliants around brim and a brilliant buckle to hold the white marabou on the left side. A small draped hat in white maline over-black, giving a gray effect, two black plumes. A tricorneer shape, the crown and the inside of the broken brim of white rough braid, the outside of the brim that turns up on the crown in three sections of black rough braid, caught up with a little cupid wing.

A white hat with brim and trimming of white chrysanthemum braid. A violet walking shape with two wings of violet flowers that go back from each side and are caught together at the back. A poke hat of shirred white lace, trimmed with light Dresden ribbon and black velvet, roses and forget-me-nots. A champagne brown hat with a big bow of ribbon of the same shade, fancy band in straw and lace combined. A Tam O'Shanter with big, soft, black straw crown, jutting out a corner and a wide brim, two white wings on side and two on top. A brown draped turban with band of raffia in natural and blue, a fancy feather in royal blue and brown.

The Colby Concert.

The concert by the Collegian Quartet was given at the Norway Opera House, Tuesday evening. The attendance was very small but the entertainment was one of the best.

The young men who took part were Colby College students and were composed of F. H. Jones, R. H. Lord, M. E. Lord and I. L. Cleveland.

The program consisted of popular songs, negro melodies, songs and selections by Mr. White. The young men gave an excellent concert and the applause which came from the audience was far greater than at many an entertainment when the house is full.

One of the special features of the evening was the excellent organ work done by J. Franklin Finner, the Crayon Wizard, who drew several handsome pictures, one a moonlight snow scene and another a view of Niagara Falls, besides several outline sketches. During the drawing of the pictures Mr. Finner entertained the audience by telling stories and cracking jokes.

After the concert the floor was cleared and dancing was in order until a late hour with music furnished by the College Orchestra.

Helen Pike attended the Methodist conference at Lewiston, last week.

Elsie Sanderson, who has been teaching at Lebanon, N. H., during the winter called on friends in town Saturday, while on her way to her home in Waterville, where she intends to spend the spring and summer.

The union temperance meeting, which was held at the Baptist church, Sunday afternoon at 3:15, was not largely attended. The speakers were Rev. James S. Wright, Alton C. Wheeler and Rev. E. A. Davis of South Paris, and Rev. R. J. Bruce of Norway.

Norway Village Corporation.

Number of polls taxed 554, not taxed 63; poll tax $1.50, tax rate $5.50 on $1,000. Assessments $6,150 00. Financial standing of the Corporation: resources, $1,557 50; liabilities none. Cash in hands of treasurer $1,261 00.

The Corporation meeting will be next Tuesday evening.

George P. Hathaway, our efficient chief engineer of the fire department, has tendered his resignation. For seven consecutive years he has filled this position, a credit to himself and to the members of the fire department as one in the idea that they do not want Mr. Hathaway to resign, and they have decided to nominate him for the position of chief engineer and elect him to the membership of the fire department. It is the general wish that Mr. Hathaway may reconsider his decision.

Fernald J. Sawyer.

Fernald J. Sawyer died at his home in Norway village of paralysis, Thursday, March 28, at 11:45 p. m., aged 71 years.

He was born in Harrison, July 21, 1841, the son of David and Edna Brackett Sawyer. He attended school at Harrison and Oufield. He had lived in Oufield 48 years and in Norway since Sept. 3, 1911.

Mr. Sawyer was a teacher and a farmer and had made a success of both occupations. He had been selectman, superintendent of schools and postmaster. He was a member of Crooked River Lodge, G. F. & A. M., and the Frederick Hotel, Grand Rapids, Minn. In politics he was a republican.

He married Mary E. Gilman of New Market, N. H., June 28, 1871, at Lowell, Mass. The last two children are Ernest F. Sawyer, who died in infancy, and Fernald D. Sawyer, who is engaged in insurance and sporting goods business at Gray; Della May, who died in 1887. He is survived by his widow and one son, Fernald D. Sawyer, and two sisters, Harriet A. Sawyer and M. Lizzie Sawyer.

The funeral was at the Congregational church, Sunday, March 31, Rev. Robert J. Bruce being the officiating clergyman. Crooked River Lodge of Masons, of which Mr. Sawyer was a Past Master, took part in the funeral services. The casket was borne by C. S. Akers, G. L. Curtis, C. W. Evers and E. P. Bicknell.

Stop Itching Scalp Overnight.

Guaranteed by Frank Kimball to Stop Falling Hair and Banish Dandruff.

Itching Scalp keeps you scratching and feeling miserable all the time. Wash your hair tonight with pure soap and water, rub on a goodly quantity of PAR-ISIAN SAGE and the distressing itchiness will be gone in the morning.

PARISIAN SAGE is a pure, refreshing and invigorating hair dressing.
Besides putting an end to scalp itch, dandruff, and falling hair, it nourishes
the hair roots and put a splendid radiance into faded and unattractive hair.

It should be used by every member of the family to keep the scalp free from dandruff germs and prevent baldness.

Children's Column.

Harrison, Me., March 22, 1912.
DEAR EDITOR:—As long as you are going to have a Children's Column in the NORWAY ADVERTISER I should like to be one of the first to write.

I am over to my Uncle Sumner Per-ley's. He has four cows, two nice yearlings. He has two bossies, two sheep and a lamb. He has two horses and two pigs. I have two cows and two horses.
He has about seventy bees. He has one dog called Curly. I have nice times over here.

I hope to see this letter and many others. Yours truly,
FORREST M. LONGLEY, Norway, Me.
Age 9 years.

DEAR EDITOR:—I will tell you about my cat. It is in a valley called Middle Intervale on the Androscoggin river in Bethel, Maine. It is a male and pine farm, some pasture and grass land also. My home is pretty and I am happy here. I have lived here three years.
I have some hens, some of them are pets. I have a nice kitty and five dolls.
I am ten years old the ninth day of next October. I hope to see many letters in the Children's Column.

ELANOR ELLEN KIMBALL.
Route 1, No. 37, Bethel.

Norway, Me., Route 1.
DEAR EDITOR:—I have just read about your Children's Column and would like to join it. I enjoy reading the children's letters in the New England Homestead and think it would be fun to have one in our town.

I used to live in a part of Boston just before I came to Norway but I like Norway and farm life best. I have around eighty hens and two and two wood boxes to keep full and sometimes I lay and grain the cows for Daddy. We have six cows and their names are Black Beauty, Graysides, Daisy, Spot Face, Queen and Grizzly, one pig, two calves named Princess Victoria and St. Patrick, and one horse named Dorothy. I am sending a picture of me and my calf.

I am nine years old and in the sixth grade. I have eight studies. I got A in everything but writing and deportment and got B in those.

I earned one dollar and seventy-five cents last summer riding the horse to cultivate and hope to earn a lot more this summer. BRADLEE WILLIS.

Albany, Maine, March 26, 1912.
DEAR BOYS AND GIRLS:—May I join
your circle? I am a boy 11 years old.
I live on a farm of 488 acres in Albany.

We have 6 cows, 5 steers, 7 heifers, 6 horses, 2 hogs and 30 hens. I have milked ever since I was 5 years old. I go to school a half mile to school, my two sisters and I. We have 14 scholars.
Our school begins in May. I enjoy going to school very much.

For pets I have a dog named Shepard and a cat named Tom. We have tapped 20 trees this spring and have made some syrup. We have for fruit trees 600 apple trees, 2 peach and 6 pears.

Last fall I caught six woodchucks and one skunk. My brother and I have caught 12 rabbits this winter.

My sister I broke myself. I help break the roads and haul some wood and saw with them.

I guess I have written enough for this time. Hoping I shall see my letter printed in the next ADVERTISER and a good many more, will close for this time.
ARTHUR L. McKEEN.

DEAR GIRLS AND BOYS:—I am a girl nine years old. I live on a farm with my papa and mama. I have one brother and two sisters. Their names are Walter age 11 years, Janet age 6 years and Lillian 4 months.

For pets we have three cats and two kittens. We have 18 cows, three horses two pigs and 325 hens.

I am glad the Editor is going to let us have a column in his paper.

Janet and I have a large doll. She is 22 inches long and has real hair and eyelashes. I wash dishes and tend baby.

I go to school when it keeps.

We are running four incubators. Janet and I have each a sleeping doll and doll carriage. We have 400 baby chickens.
I will close for this time. ALMA NOYES,
West Paris, Me.

My Father.

I have a father.

His name is Ed.

His hair is black.

And his nose is red.

My father is working.

A chopping wood.

He tries to get money

To buy something good.

He bought me some rubbers.

To keep my feet dry.

And when I put them on.

They make me step high.

He bought me some leggins.

Two feet long.

They come to my knees.

And keep my feet warm.

Age, nine years old. ALFRED TYLER.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B.
Holmeslaw, Claremont, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr.
King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds.
For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Coughs and Colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at the Noyes
Drug Store. 14-17

Concert at Deering Memorial Church.
A real treat for young music was the concert at Deering Memorial church Wednesday evening, March 27 by the girls choir of this church assisted by Mr. Frank Knapp, cornet, Miss Alice Barden, soprano; Mrs. C. L. Buck and Miss M. J. McAllister, alto; the Sunday school orchestra with M. Geo. Davis, 1st violin; Miss Sara Sweet, 2nd violin; Leody Davis, co-nat; Ray New-ton, flute; Summer Davis, clarinet; Harold Merrill, trombone and Mrs. Geo. Barden, piano.

The program, which was excellent, was very well rendered and reflected much credit to all who took part, nearly every number being encored. This vocal choir was the first of its kind to be organized in our village and has proved a great success. Much credit is due the girls and Mrs. Geo. Barden under whose training they have been since fall.

The Sunday school orchestra is also under Mrs. Burnham's direction and shows wonderful proficiency for the length of time they have been organized. A specially pleasing feature of the program was the cornet solo by Frank Knapp and his encores, "Fair Harvard."

Mrs. Barden of West Paris is a pleasing young vocalist and sings with beautiful expression.

Hiram Pulsifer.

Hiram Pulsifer passed away Tuesday morning about one o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louise Durgin, on Pleasant street. Mr. Pulsifer has been in failing health during the past winter.

A petition has been in circulation addressed to the municipal officers, requesting a change in the location of the street railway track on Pleasant street from the south side of the street to the middle of the street, called the "Tribble's track" after the late F. B. Tribble, who past the stable of F. B. Foggs. It was recently passed by the Legislature that the municipal officers after having a public hearing, have authority to order a change in the location of the track within the limits of the street, and both parties have the right to apply to the State Railroad Commissioners, whose decision would be final.

It was found last week on inspection, that a leak in the water main had developed under the river above the Park street bridge, and the leak was sufficient to drain the reservoir. The present supply is being taken from the by-pass around the reservoir directly from the supply pipe, and plenty of water is being supplied that way. The Clark reservoir is full. As soon as the frost is out of the ground a pipe will be laid on Hill street from the present terminus to where the 12 in. pipe crosses the street which will give a loop with two pipes of supply from that point.

On Wednesday evening a rehearsal for the first degree was held by Mt. Micah Lodge, I. O. O. The Universalist Ladies' Circle gave an entertainment and supper at Grange Hall on Wednesday last week to about one hundred friends. The program consisted of a series of magic lantern pictures exhibited by Rev. Mr. Sias, assisted by William and Eddie Coye. The first represented the human stomach in normal, healthy condition. This was followed by the stomach showing the effects of drinking alcoholic liquors to various degrees of excess. It was a frightful lesson in practical results of intemperate drinking. Another set of views showed an old farmer and a young calf in a variety of trying efforts to load or drive or transport the calf to market. The moral of this show is: Farmers, teach your calves to be led without hazing back. Interesting recitations were given by Mrs. Ida Ringe and Margaret Sias. A season of dancing closed the exercises by music on piano by Marion Peckard and Hattie Smith. The musical gem of the evening was a trio played by Blanche and Emma Young and Hattie Smith.

AMERICAN LAW 33697

Record 2.21 1-4 over half mile track

The best producing blood in the State of Maine.

Sire, Hair-at-Law; record, trot 2.12; pace 2.05 3-4. Dam, Florence (Chimes by Chimes), 2.30 3-4, sire of "The Abbott" 2.03 1-2 and five others with records of 2.06 or better. Hair-at-Law sire of Minor Hair, 1.50 1-3 and over 50 in the list.

AMERICAN LAW is a horse of great substance and high finish; a fast, pure gaited, game trotter. He is a type of a high class gentleman's driver, viz: good color, the right conformation, action and speed, combined. That he has the ability to transmit these qualities is shown in his get. He has to his credit American Chimes 2.14 1-4, Attorney-at-Law 2.18 3-4, American Blossom 2.19 1-4, Mamie 2.24, and these from mares of no particular individual breeding.

We feel justified in saying that AMERICAN LAW mated with well bred mares, will be the equal of any horse in the State as a sire of extreme speed; and we invite the breeders of Oxford County to visit Mountain View Farm and know about American LAW.

No. VII.

Old Campmeeting Chautauqua Grounds—The West Oxford Agricultural Fair—The Fair at South Paris, and Joseph Cap-Ford in Recent Years—A Trip About Fryeburg and West Fryeburg.

Before saying my second goodbye to Fryeburg village I would like to make a short visit to the old Campmeeting Chautauqua grounds, away down on the banks of the winding Saco, and about two miles distant from the village. In the summer of 1892 my daughter and I were visiting friends at West Fryeburg and we made several visits across the river to attend some of the very interesting meetings that were being held at the Chautauqua grounds. One of the big day's doings was the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the academy. George Burrows was, I think, historian, and Colby, a son of Albert Colby of West Fryeburg, presided and read the Centennial ode. Another noted day was the Politicians' day, in which each political party was given the privilege of presenting the various political issues of the day. I do not remember who the other speakers were, but Senator Frye, one of Maine's "grand old men," spoke to the Republicans in his usual forcible and logical manner.

A little later in the season, with my daughter and Henry and Fannie Burbank I visited the West Oxford Agricultural Fair at its new location near the Chautauqua grounds where I met many old friends, and saw some fine displays of old Oxford's agricultural and domestic products. At that time the Fryeburg horse railroad was in operation, and was a great convenience in transporting passengers and baggage to and from the grounds, to the village and railroad station. But it takes money and patronage to run Campmeetings, Chautauquas and horse railroads. The two former closed up years ago and the latter only a year or two ago.

I see by a late ADVERTISER that the railroad company has been reorganized and that there is a prospect of its starting up again. This is a great era for electric railroads. If one could be built from Fryeburg out through Lovell to Norway, thus connecting two railroad towns, it would fill a long felt want and do much to open up the tourist trade and business through one of the loveliest sections of Maine. Speaking of horse railroads reminds me that when I visited in New York City in 1871 there was nothing but horse railroads in use and they were counted a wonderful convenience at that time. When I visited the same big city last summer I was very much surprised to see a horse car line in operation in one of the busiest sections of the city. I was told that it was a belt line which extended around the lower part of the city, and connecting with many of the city's lines. I heard that long ago this company obtained a long time franchise for their road which they have succeeded in holding by continually keeping the line in operation.

We will now return to the village by the way of the Lovell-Fryeburg public highway. The level sandy pine land covered with a stunted growth of hard pine, white and scrub oak and blueberry bushes extends to the city limits and beyond. In favorable seasons the blueberry bushes are loaded with their luscious fruit which are free to all who care to pick them.

We pass the old Swan's Fall road, where the pater of children's feet is again heard as they go barefoot to the village school, and where Colby turned pilgrim and the summer tourist love to wander along the cool and shady winding road to the river bank beyond and sit and dream as he listens to the deep roar of the swift waters as they go hurrying on their journey to the deep blue sea.

As we resume our journey to the village we see to the left and less than a mile away, old Jockey Cap, which stands like a faithful sentinel watching over the destinies of the valley.

Among the notable buildings that we pass is the academy building, the pride and joy of every true son and daughter of Fryeburg. The Congregational church which for more than one hundred years has stood steadfast to the faith as preached by Fessenden, Hurd, Sewell and other noted divines. The New Church built some thirty years ago stands just around the corner on another street.

Rev. Buman Stone, its pastor, was pastor of the Congregational church from 1874 to 1877 when he was dismissed, and soon after organized the New Church of which he has been pastor ever since.

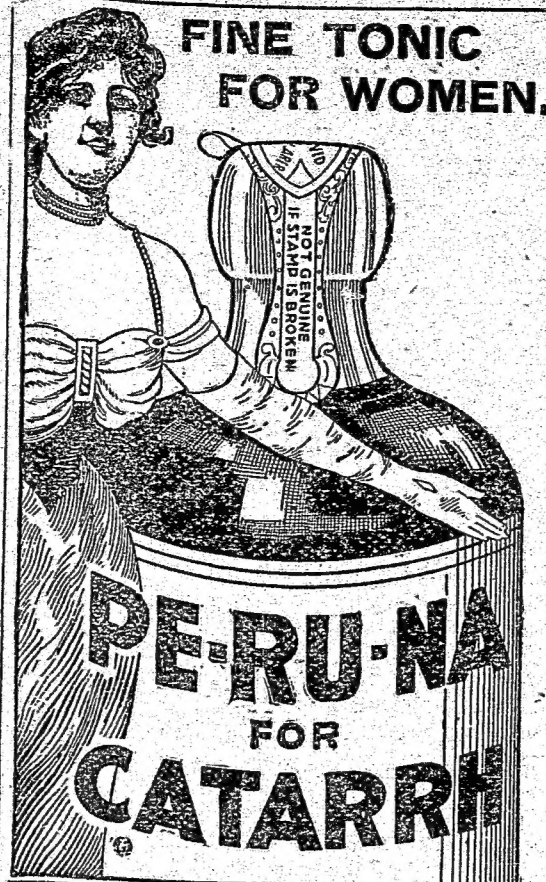

Rev. Mr. Stone, through all his pastoral life of almost forty years in Fryeburg, has been very popular with both old and young, as proven by the fact that he is called upon to perform a large proportion of both the marriage and funeral services in his own and nearby towns. The old Methodist church, some 55 years ago and for many years the oldest of that denomination in the town, is now owned by the New Church people and has been fitted up for a hall.

The section of the village swept by the great fire of 1906 remains mostly vacant. Most of the new buildings have since been built on the site, on the other side of town and on the streets leading to the station. One of the saddest tragedies of the fire was the death of Alonzo Lewis. He fell from a ladder while fighting fire and received injuries from which he died a few days later. He was a life-long resident of Conway and Fryeburg. In his later years he was something of a traveler and lecturer. At the time of the Webster Centennial celebration, he, I think, gave the historical address and he published a pamphlet giving all of the proceedings of that notable event.

Fryeburg has one of the best systems of water works to be found in any town, the water coming from never-failing pure springs high up on Green Hill. She also has an excellent electric lighting system generated from the new power house erected on the river on the west shore at Swan's Falls.

We will now leave the village by the way of Pine Hill and the West Fryeburg bridge. Fifty years ago the side of the former near the village was bare of trees and seemed to be a part of the village common. It was on that side hill that in 1863 Fryeburg's Centennial celebration was begun and would have been ended there but for the intervention of a heavy thunder shower which sent the immense crowd scurrying to a shelter of the village houses. Since that notable event Maine's favorite tree, the pine, has grown up that barren hillside and from base to top it is covered with the swaying money making pine.

At the top of the hill just before reaching the bridge we will pause for a few moments and gaze upon one of nature's loveliest landscape paintings. The bridge, the sparkling river with the broad level intervals below Green Hill and the range of mountains beyond with

PE-RU-NA FOR CATARRH

Kearsarge standing out in bold relief the monolith of the great range of mountains, all combined presents a view both grand and beautiful. So impressed was Mrs. Etta H. Osgood with this beautiful spot in the old home land that she had expensive pictures painted and presented one to each of her daughters, and when I visited her at her daughter's home at Swathmore, Pa., I found that picture hanging on the wall, and so real did it look that I almost felt that I was back on the old stamping ground once more.

I am a great walker and most of my travels while in Maine were by the Foot and Walker line, so we will continue our travels, and cross the bridge and broad intervals beyond to the stone watering trough where we are to meet, then turning to the left we follow up Fag-end street, now known as East Conway, N. H., to the home of the Kelley boys, John and Charles, who with their mother, the Kelley brothers, were the fourth generation of Kelleys that I have known, and who have succeeded each other in the ownership of this old homestead farm and the last three generations have been known as the Kelley brothers, two in each line.

In the summer of 1868 I worked for Edmond Kelley a part of the season. His wife was my first cousin, Amanda, daughter of Uncle John Heath. His family at that time consisted of his wife and four children, Mary, Annie, Jim-Ed and Walter. His father and mother, Uncle Isaac and Aunt Mary, and Edmond's brother James married my aunt, Hannah Kelley, and lived on a small farm adjoining the Kelley place. Uncle Jim was a famous cook and used to help prepare entertainment for the longer man at some of the North Conway tourist hotels. Of the four children, Mary Kelley married John Webster of West Fryeburg. They lived at the John McMillin place in the village until John's death. She is now living with her son at Nashua, N. H. Annie is also married and living at the same place. Jim-Ed and Walter, little boys when I worked there, grew in time to strong, stalwart men. They worked the farm together for a while, then thinking it too small for two, Walter took his portion and moved away. He is married I think and I believe is a farmer at North Conway.

As the years passed away Samuel and Uncle Isaac and Aunt Mary Kelley died. In the mean time Uncle John Heath came to pass his latter years with his daughter Amanda, where he too passed away having attained the age of 92 years. Then Edmond answered the call, and less than two years ago Amanda in her 83rd year crossed the silent river, followed within a few weeks by her son, Jim-Ed, but little past the prime of life, leaving his wife and daughter in the care of their two stalwart sons.

At the old James Kelley house I made a door-yard call upon the occupants, said occupants being a son of one of my boyhood friends of Lovell, Stephen Irish, and a daughter, the I made a half-hour porch call on another old friend, Mrs. Page. I found him badly used up with rheumatism but able to get around and help with the chores.

Turning back towards West Fryeburg I had a pleasant visit with Ray Ballard, son of Dean Ballard. He has a pleasant home, a capable wife and four small children. A half mile farther down the road I was pleasantly entertained at the home of Richard Webster. His wife, Fannie, is the daughter of Dean Ballard, and has been employed in an office on Fag-end street, and what is better than gold or silver seven bright, healthy children.

Another half mile farther down the street at the home of the Hon. John Andrews I enjoyed another pleasant visit and a talk about old times for he was one of my younger schoolmates at the West Fryeburg school in the winter of 1868-7. He is also a relative of mine, but I will leave it to the readers of the ADVERTISER to find out what the relationship is. His father was a first cousin of mine and also my step-brother on my father's side, and his mother a first cousin on my mother's side. John is one of the leading citizens of Conway and has been twice elected to the New Hampshire Legislature. He is a carpenter by trade, has a fine home, a model wife and three grown-up children, Arthur, Annie and Harold. Arthur has a farm near his father's and is married. Louis has been employed in an office in some large business or manufacturing establishment in Providence, R. I., for several years, and Harold is attending college and preparing himself for a professional career.

At the old Capt. Lewis place, where the Green Hill road branches off, stands the ancestral home of the Lewis family. The late Charles Lewis was a veteran of the Civil War. His widow, Mrs. Lewis, nee Farrington, is still living there. Her home was in West Fryeburg and she was a teacher in her younger days. When I was a boy Capt. Lewis kept a little store on the corner. A larger and prosperous looking store is now doing business on the same spot, operated I presume by some member of the Lewis family.

A little farther on down the West Fryeburg road and seated beneath the broad spreading branches of a monster maple in front of the John Heath home, I had seen twice before, was the noted bear hunter and sportsman of Chatham, and a veteran of the Civil War. Almost blind and badly crippled by rheumatism and well passed his four score years, he is patiently waiting for the great old time call that will give him worn and weary body rest.

A little farther on we pass the split stone marker with N. H. on one side and M. on the other, which marks the Maine-

New Hampshire line, and we are again in the old Pine Tree State.

At Ballard's brook we will pause for a moment and gaze on to the deep mysterious fishing pool just below and shaded by a large shade tree. It always had a somber look to me, but much more so since an old acquaintance, Joseph Page, while in a despondent mood ended his life there.

One winter day in the long ago as I was walking along the road, I overtook Josh Emerson at the bridge and helped him to realize that a friend in need was a friend indeed. He was hauling a large trunk on a hand-sled and was stuck on a bare spot on the bridge. Tug, pull and twist all he could he could not budge it. I helped him across and was richly repaid by his gracious bow and kindly thank you.

From the bridge I took a side trip of sixty or seventy rods up the brook to the mill pond, where the first mill was built more than one hundred years ago and where under various owners and conditions a mill has operated most of the time since. When a boy I visited the grist mill, then operated by Osburn Charles, to see an immense eagle which had been wounded and captured alive and was being held a captive. Lloyd Stephens has bought the mill and is making many improvements. I was there last August and obtained a fine kodak picture of the mill, the pond and Kearsarge beyond. Lloyd was building temporary house which he will occupy until he can build the large modern house that he has in view, and then turn the temporary one into a stable.

Devos Takes Least Gallons: Always.

Paint Devos: It's the cheapest paint in the world; never mind the price; it may or may not be more. Less gallons will paint the house; and the paint will outwear anything.

Ship wear: you've got to wait to find that house lead-and-oll a good many times, said 12 1/2 gallons Devos. I got 15; it took 6 1/2, with 1 1/2 of oil.

Mr. William Maughan, Central Rutland, Vt., bought 9; had 3 left.

That's how.

No Cause To Doubt.

A Statement of Facts Backed by a Strong Guarantee.

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will refund the money paid us for it. That's a frank statement of facts, and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

Recall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, and particularly good and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhea, nausea, griping excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Recall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Three sizes, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Remember you can obtain Recall Remedies in Norway only at our store—The Recall Store, F. P. Stone, 143 Main St., Norway, Me.

MONEY LOST

By Sickness and Enforced Idleness. Many of the days of sickness and misery, too often accompanied by loss of pay, may easily be charged to neglect or indiscretion on the part of the individual. Just a little more care in the matter of diet and attention to regularity of habits will change such days into happy and profitable ones. Give heed to Nature's first warnings of approaching trouble, keep your stomach and digestion right and your bowels regular, then everything will look cheerful and your day's work will be easier.

On the first appearance of acid stomach, nausea, headache or constipation, take one or two teaspoonfuls of L. F. Atwood's Medicine, and the functions will resume their normal activity, you will avoid the expense of sickness, and earn your usual pay. Get a bottle today from your dealer or write us to mail a free sample. The "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

STATE OF MAINE.

Public Notice.

In conformity with the provisions of section 38 to 39 of Chapter 32, of the Revised Statutes of Maine, and upon the petition of five or more citizens of the State, and deeming it for the best interest of the State, the Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game, after due notice to all persons interested in the subject matter of said petition, and public hearing thereon in the locality to be affected, and deeming it necessary and proper for the protection and preservation of the inland fish of the State, hereby adopt the following regulations, which shall be in force from the date of their adoption, and shall remain in force until otherwise ordered by the State, and the circumstances under which inland fish may be taken in the waters of Lovellville pond, so-called, and Lower Kearsar pond, so-called, in the town of Fryeburg, in the county of Oxford, and in the town of Bridgton, in the county of Cumberland, also relating to the taking of far bearing animals in said Lower Kearsar pond, its outlet stream, in the Kearsar Meadows, so-called, and in Old Saco river, so-called, between Toll bridge, so-called, and Hemlock bridge, so-called, in said town of Fryeburg.

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person at any time to fish for lake trout, any kind of fish in Lower Kearsar pond, so-called, situated in the town of Fryeburg, county of Oxford, and in the town of Bridgton, county of Cumberland, from March first to June first following of each year.

It shall also be unlawful for any person at any time to fish for lake trout, any kind of fish in Lovellville pond, so-called, which pond is situated in said town of Fryeburg, from March first to July first following of each year.

It shall also be unlawful for any person to have in possession at any time any kind of fish taken in violation of this section.

Section 2. At any time when fishing is permitted by law in the above named waters, it shall be unlawful for any person to take, catch or kill in any one day more than eight fish in Lovellville pond, so-called, in said town of Fryeburg, county of Oxford, or from Lower Kearsar pond, so-called, situated in said town of Fryeburg and in the town of Bridgton, county of Cumberland.

It shall also be unlawful for any person to have in possession in any one day more than eight fish in all taken from either of said ponds. It shall also be unlawful for any person at any time to hunt, take, catch, kill or destroy any fur bearing animal or furbearing animal in said Lower Kearsar pond, so-called, in its outlet stream, or in the Kearsar Meadows, so-called, adjacent to said pond, which meadows are bounded by said Lower Kearsar pond, and its outlet, by the Old Saco river, so-called, by the Ditch, so-called, which discharges the waters of Kearsar river into said Old Saco River, and by the upland on the easterly side of said meadows, or in said Old Saco river, between Toll bridge, so-called, and Hemlock bridge, so-called, in said town of Fryeburg.

It shall also be unlawful for any person to have in possession any fur bearing animal or furbearing animal taken in violation of any provision of this section.

Section 4. These regulations shall take effect on March 18th, A. D. 1912, and shall remain in force for a period of three years.

Dated this 11th day of March, A. D. 1912.

HARRISON.
There will be two special Easter services held at the Congregational church, Sunday.
In the afternoon at 1:30 o'clock there will be an Easter sermon by the pastor, C. N. Davis, and special music by a chorus of a dozen voices.
In the evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a concert given by a solo children. One special feature of the concert will be a solo by Mrs. Edith Burnham Bartlett from Boston. Mrs. Bartlett has a magnificent soprano voice, and has been taking private vocal lessons the past year of Mrs. Wilbur Haskell of Boston, who is considered one of the best vocal teachers in the city.

Free Baptist Church.
Palm Sunday was observed at the Free Baptist church with appropriate music and sermon. The pastor preached from the text—"Behold thy King cometh unto thee," found in Zach. 9:9. "The Palmes" sung by M. Walker as well rendered. There was a good attendance at the morning service and at the Sunday school.
Careful and thorough work is being done to make the Easter services a success. At the morning service in addition to the special sermon and music, four will be received into membership and fellowship of the church by letter. Following this, the Lord's Supper will be observed.
Concert in the evening at 6:30 o'clock. A program consisting of songs, solo recitations, tableaux, etc., by the children, and special music by the choir will be given. An offering for Home Missions will be made. The unique and beautiful feature of the concert will be the enjoyment of this hour.
The vestry has recently been thoroughly cleaned and put in good order by the ladies of the church. Maps and pictures for use in the Sunday school have been arranged on the walls so as to give the most interesting and cheerful presentation that is truly refreshing. The several classes in the S. S. are taking laudable pride at this time in their work. A beautiful banner was recently awarded the Young Peoples' class for excellence in attendance and collection.

Observation Party.
The Observation party to be held last Friday evening at Good Will hall was postponed on account of the weather until Monday evening.
The entertainment was first-class and was very interesting. There were readings by Mrs. John F. Wood, a solo by Dana L. Grover, and a duet by Mrs. Wood and Mr. Grover accompanied by Mrs. Grover, solos by Alice Barden with self accompaniment, piano solo by Mrs. Grover and piano duet by Laura Willis and Lilla Young; also a flag drill, beautifully done by eight young ladies dressed in white, decorated with red, white and blue shoulder sashes, with silver crowns and carrying flags. Mrs. Carrol Bacon represented Columbia and sang Columbia the Gem of the Ocean.
Every part of the program was exceptionally done and Mrs. Wood is a star reader.

A Family Affair.
A Family Affair, Charles Townsends' three act comedy drama, will be presented by the Norway Dramatic club at Grange Hall, West Paris, Saturday evening, April 6th. This play was presented at Norway Opera House, March 26th, for K. of P. Ladies' Night, and was pronounced to be one of the most ludicrous comedies ever staged by local talent. The play will be followed by a dance. Music by Stearns' orchestra, five pieces. Doors open at 7:30; curtain rises at 8 o'clock sharp.
Mt. Mica Lodge, I. O. O. F., of South Paris will visit West Paris Lodge on this same evening, and have already made arrangements for a special train, which will leave South Paris soon after the 4:45 car arrives from Norway. This train will accommodate all who care to go, and on the return trip will run to Norway for the benefit of those who go from that place.
